Reich, France Hit 11th Day

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

LONDON, April 25 (AP) — Well over 1000 American bombers and fighters bombarded three German airfields in France today, the 11th consecutive day of the war's greatest aerial offensive.

The German radio said other Allied raiders penetrated the southern sector of the Reich.

A preliminary announcement of daylight activity, which appeared again to be on a gigantic scale, said Fortresses and Liberators from Britain smashed at German airdromes in Nancy, Metz and Dijon in the continuing all-out effort to humble Hitler's air forces ahead of the western invasion.

The daylight attacks followed attacks last night by probably 1000 planes of the RAF which blasted industrial Munich and Karlsruhe.

In a reconnaissance report on the Munich raid the air ministry said whole blocks of buildings were left ablaze in the city Hitler converted from a Nazi shrine to an aircraft center and the heart of an important railway system.

(The German Transocean Agency termed the Munich raid "the heaviest ever," and claimed that ancient landmarks were destroyed, among them the old Pinacothek Basilica of St. Boniface, the Academy of Music, the Bavarian State Library and the Wittelsbach palace.)

American airmen back from Metz said at least 40 planes, mostly fighters, parked on the ground there were plastered with bombs and there was no fighter opposition.

The raiders of Nancy also caught German aircraft parked on the ground.

While the heavies and their escort thundered into eastern France American Marauders and Havocs with British Bostons attacked military objectives in northern France which have been pounded repeatedly recently by every type of daylight raider based in Britain.

AFTER GREATEST RAIDS

Waves of planes drove forward the campaign that has poured 40,000 to 50,000 tons of explosives on Hitler's war machine since mid-April.

Thirty British planes were lost last night, when the main blows aimed at factories and communications in Karlsruhe and Munich. Mosquito planes hit Dusseldorf and other raiders pounded the rail depot at Chambly 20 miles north of Paris. Mines were laid.

The Monday armadas from Britain sent down 103 German planes in air combat and wrecked 49 more aground for a toll of 152, against losses of 38 bombers and 17 fighters.

Push Ahead In Hollandia

Associated Press War Editor
By RICHARD C. BERGHOLZ

Japan's prized base of Hollandia in Dutch New Guinea is toppling under the surprise amphibious attack by Gen. MacArthur's forces and capture of Hollandia's three airdromes, the only major objectives yet to be reached, is imminent.

Today's reports from Allied commanders and Associated Press correspondents at the invasion scene confirmed that confirmed that yet another airdrome—Tadji at Aitape, 150 miles southwest of Hollandia—has been pressed into active duty less than 48 hours after it was taken and gave this picture of the fight for Hollandia:

1—Hollandia Town has fallen without serious opposition and lies in utter destruction.

ONLY RAIN SLOWS YANKS

2—A two-way squeeze is under way for the Hollandia and Cyclops airdromes which lie in the 34-mile valley ata the foot of the towering Cyclops mountains.

3—A third American column is spearing south from Hollandia toward Tami airdrome in the Lake Sentani area and has covered one-third of the distance to the airfield.

There has been no large scale opposition to the invasion and American losses have been slight.

Adm. Nimitz, whose Pacific fleet contributed powerful air and naval striking power preceding and during the invasion, announced carrier-based planes destroyed 101 Pap planes, all but 13 on the ground, while warships pumped tons of shells into shore positions.

DUTCH TAKE OVER

Dutch authorities said representatives of the Netherlands Indies civil administration have established civil authority in Hollandia.

Other Allied forces kept the Japanese off balance in the southwest Pacific. Planes pounded the Wewak-Hansa bay area of coastal New Guinea southeast of Hollandia and Titape with 333 tons of bombs and heavy bombers raided a Jap air replacement center on Geelvink bay norhwetst of Hollandia.

Fighting on the India-Burma border has slackened slightly nad Allied troops have broken through several enemy road blocks northeast of Imphal, where more than 4900 Japs have been killed since the India invasion began.

Central Pacific bombers hit again at mighty Truk in the Carolines and also smashed targets at Ponape, Ulul and Puluwat islands and at four Marshall Islands.

HOLLANDIA'S POSITION IN PACIFIC—Arcs centered on Hollandia, New Guinea, and drawnt distances of 1000 and 2000 miles, show its position in relation tother strategic points in the western Pacific. Today Yank troos closed on the enemy's principal airdrome at Hollandia.

Reds Smash German Attack

MOSCOW, April 25 (AP)—The Red army has smashed a German attack west of Dubno, 85 miles northeast of the big communications center of Lwow, which at first had succeeded in driving the Russians out of two localities, a Soviet communique said today.

More than 400 Nazis were slain in the Russian counterblow which dislodged the enemy from both places and "restored the situation," the bulletin declared.

In the Carpathian foothills more than 100 miles to the southwest, more than 200 Germans were officially reported killed after they crossed a stream southwest of Stanislawow by night and were routed by Soviet troops in the morning.

Except for these actions, however, a stalemate continued along the land front as the Red air force tightened the blockade of Sevastopol, blasting ships which attempted to carry Axis troops out of the encircled Black sea base.

Stimson Urges Joint Army, Navy

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—Creation of a single department of the armed forces to replace the present Departments of War and Navy after the present war was recommended to Congress today by Sec. Stimson.

Stimson told the House committee on postwar military policy that statutory unification of command should not be effected during the present war but added it is "of the greatest importance that the general principle of consolidation be determined upon as soon as possible."

WACs Bombed Out in Naples

NAPLES, April 25 (AP)—There were nine homeless WACs in Naples today, a little shaken but in good spirits, after a bombing destroyed the apartment which served as their billet.

The bomb landed in the midst of buildings housing a WAC unit attached to the Air Force Service Command and sliced off the end of one of the structures, but none of the WACs was injured, as they had proceeded to shelters when the sirens sounded.

U. S. Gets Eire's Plea for Rome

By LEON PEARSON

WASHINGTON, April 25 (INS)—The State Department today was in receipt of a new proposal from Irish Prime Minister De Valera for the preservation of Rome from military destruction.

In a formal communication, De Valera proposed that a commission be established which would undertake an inspection of Rome and report on its demilitarization. If the commission found Rome demilitarized, it would be declared an open city, secure from attack.

This proposal came on the heels of an earlier appeal by De Valera addressed to President Roosevelt. This appeal declared that 300 million Catholics throughout the world were distressed at the danger threatening Rome, and that "millions of Catholics would risk their lives" to save these memorials in the Holy City.

President Roosevelt's reply, released April 19, laid the responsibility for the fate of the city upon the Germans, who "are using to the limit of its capacities the communications network and other facilities of Rome to further a purely German military operation."

In time, the German government announced that steps had been taken to demilitarize the city.

De Valera's proposal, it was explained, would set up a commission to examine the demilitarization. It was suggested that the commission would be composed of whatever neutrals might be desired. Both Spain and Argentina already have expressed their concern over the fate of Rome. Other countries, such as Sweden, Switzerland or Turkey, could be brought into the commission.

It is understood that the State Department's reply to the latest proposal of De Valera was to make no commitment.

Nazi Bombers Lash at Naples

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, April 25 (AP)—German bombers struck sharply at Naples last night in the wake of a great co-ordinated attack by Allied aircraft against Nazi communications and aircraft plants in the Balkans and northern Italy.

Unofficial estimates placed the size of the Nazi formation which raided Naples at 30 to 40 planes. The attack, although sharp, was not damaging. One of the raiders was shot down.

The Allies flew 2000 sorties yesterday, destroying 29 enemy planes for a loss of 14 in operations that included heavy bomber assaults on the Bucharest and Ploesti railyards in Romania and on an aircraft factory at Belgrade.

Nazi Daisies

LONDON, April 25 (AP)—A German war correspondent who accompanied Erwin Rommel on a tour of coastal fortifications told today how the spirit of spring moved the field marshal:

"On one occasion the field marshal, on seeing a field full of spring flowers, observed it was wonderful to think that underneath those flowers 80,000 mines were concealed."

The Berlin broadcast said Rommel usually spends five days a week inspecting "western regions."

Germans Isolate All Denmark

By ROBERT N. STURDEVANT

STOCKHOLM, April 25 (AP)—Hitler's special deputy and minister to Denmark, Werner Best, declared today the Germans were moving swiftly against Danish saboteurs and underground elements affecting German interests.

Denmark was virtually isolated from Sweden and Best's statement before Danish press chiefs was the first tangible evidence of the reason. The country was cut off late yesterday.

Best asserted Denmark was "swarming" with underground workers and it therefore was Germany's task to "attack swiftly and sternly. He said the Nazis would show no mercy toward saboteurs, indicating they would be summarily shot when caught. He expressed hope "conditions would stabilize" and Danish public opinion would react against sabotage.

The belief was prevalent in Stockholm, Denmark was isolated as the underground could be cleaned up as a pre-invasion security measure. Similar action was expected in other occupied countries, many Swedes believed. Only the barest, unsubstantiated rumors trickeled through the Nazi blockade of Denmark. One was that the Capenhagen harbor area was closed. Another said German soldiers were guarding railroads and keeping close watch over workmen. The newspaper Aftonbladet said there were rumors last night in Helsinki of disturbances in Copenhagen and other parts of Denmark. Such rumors should be treated with the greatest reserve, however.

Children Pay Tribute At Bier of Cardinal

Into high-vaulted, black-draped Holy Cross Cathedral today filed more than 2500 solemn-faced, wide-eyed parochial school children and there paid final homage to William Cardinal O'Connell, their departed spiritual leader. This was the first of the week's four requiem masses at the Cathedral for the Prince of the Catholic Church, and to it each of the 325 parishes of the archdiocese sent a delegation of children, each group under supervision of a priest.

Celebrates First of Three Requiem Masses for Cardinal

The delegations were small in number except for the Cathedral parish itself—the late prelate's own parish—which was represented by 250 children in the congregation.

As the boys and girls filed silently into their pews, theis eyes were turned forward to the catafalque where the figure of the prelate, clade in the ceremonial robes of his office and with a crucifix in his hands, lay in view.

HUNDREDS WAIT IN VAIN

Outside the Cathedral several hundred other children had gathered, hoping to be admitted to the solemn services, but because the seating capacity was limited and all had been provided for, these youngsters were forced to be content with hearing the music from outside.

Bishop Richard J. Cushing, administrator of the archdiocese until the Pope appoints a new archbishop, presided at the requiem mass from a throne facing that in which the Cardinal usually sat.

The Rt. Rev. Edward G. Murray, rector of St. John's Seminary, was celebrant; the deacon was the Rev. William J. Daly, diocesan director of parochial schools; the sub-deacon was the Rev. George M. Dowd, director of the Catholic Youth Organization, and the master of ceremonies was the Rev. Robert H. Lord, vice-rector and head of the history department at St. John's Seminary.

Acolytes were the Rev. Alfred D. C. L., and the Rev. John J. Murray, S. T. L. The cross bearer was the Rev. Lawrence J. Riley of St. John's Seminary and the thurifer the Rev. Walter J. Flaherty o fthe Cathedral.

ADDRESS BY FR. DALY

Beside Bishop Cushing, as chaplains, sat the Rev. Charles N. Cunningham, pastor of St. Paul's Church, Dorchester, and the Rev. John J. Scollan of St. Clement's Chuhch, Somerville.

Babe in Wood Is Found Dead

CANTERBURY, N. H., April 25—Three-year-old Dana Lamprey, lost "babe in the woods," who vanished Sunday, was found stretched in death today after two nights and a day of search in cold, rainswept forests by his family, police, neighbors and soldiers.

Thethinly clad little body was discovered a mile from the Lamprey home, in the cellar of a temporarily unoccupied farm house owned by Malcolm Wilsson.

It was pinned under two inward-swinging doors through which the boy had entered, apparently in search of refuge from the drving rain.

TRAPPED IN CELLAR

The little fellow obviously had tried to leave the cellar, perhaps frightened by the dark. But the tiny hands that made the doors admit him could not solve the problem when he pressed outward and they didn't budge.

It was evident he had tried to crawl under them and struggled so much in his fright he became inextricably lodged there.

The Wilkson family was away and there was no one to hear the boy's cries for help.

He had been dead about 24 hours, medical examination indicated.

3 SEARCHERS FIND BODY

The 3-year-old child's tragic death was discovered by three searchers who had been combing the drenched forest for the second night.

They were George Pevely and Arthur Brown, selectmen, and Ernest Pickett, a neighbor of the Lamprey family.

Nearby, as they came upon the little body, was the boy's father, Herbert Lamprey, exhausted from two nights and part of a day in the woods.

The discoverers called to him. He found his child dressed just as he had been when he roamed away from home. Dana had disappeared into the impending storm wearing nothing more than two light sweaters and underwear. He wore no shoes or stockings.

200 IN SEARCHING PARTY

Lamprey carried the sad word to his wife, who has been in bed since her collapse yesterday. She is the mother of nine other children.

Doctors found the boy's leg scratched, as though he had struggled through thick brush.

The search for him had been directed by federal forestry officials who had come here from Plymouth and mapped out a systematic plan for combing a two-mile area. The attempt to find the little boy before he should die of exposure or other cause was carried on by 200 men and women of this town's 505 population, as well as by soldiers, police and others.

Primary Opens; Voting Is Light

With light voting reported in almost all precincts, Massachusetts voters went to the polls today in a presidential primary election which tested Bay State opposition to 16 years in the White House for President Roosevelt.

In the seven most populous of the 14 congressional districts, candidates for delegates to the Democratic national convention pledged to the candidacy of Ex-Gov. Joseph B. Ely ran against the party's state committee slates of candidates.

Anti-New Deal Democrats working for Ely claim a good chance to gain control of the state convention delegation if they can elect a majority of their choices in the seven contested districts, 3, 6, 7, 10, 11, 12, and 13, the latter four in the Boston area.

The Ely group failed to contest the state committee slate for delegates-at-large, but some of these candidates, notably Ely himself, are openly opposed to the administration and a fourth term.

Boston polls will remain open until 8 tonight. Because not more than 100,000 votes are expected to be cast in all, returns should be in early, election officials said. As usual, bars and liquor stores will be closed until the 8 p. m. closing of polls.

Only three contests are listed on the Republican side of the picture and voting by that party probably will give only an inconclusive test of the strength in the state of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

Although unpledged to any candidate, most of the Republican state committee slate originally favored Wendell Willkie, who has withdrawn.

OTHER VOTING

Today's elections, outside Massachusetts, were in these states:

Pennsylvania — The Democrats will pick 72 convention delegates pledged to support President Roosevelt. Republicans will name 70 delegates, who may start with Gov. Edward Martin as a "favorite son," but probably will turn to Dewey when serious convention balloting starts.

Kentucky — Republicans will name six convention delegates still to be chosen. Sixteen were selected yesterday. Republican leaders say Kentucky's 22 votes would go to Gov. Simeon Willis on the first ballot at the national convention and then to Dewey.

Algiers Ship Jammed; Artists Cheer Crowds

By WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST, Jr.
Publisher, New York Journal-American

(This is the third of a series of articles by William Randolph Hearst, Jr., now in Algiers.)

ALGIERS, April 25—In some respects the trip over was exceedingly dull, yet compared with peacetime travel it was a pretty rugged trip, principally because the ship was terribly crowded.

There was only one lounge room, about 50 feet square, which couldn't accommodate one third of the passengers.

The dining room was just back of and a trifle larger than the lounge room. There an overcrowded situation was solved by feeding the people in shifts.

As food was plentiful and excellent, this was no hardship.

PASSENGERS DIVIDED

The ship's officers ate at 8:00 in the morning; one batch of passengers, comprised of troops, officers and pilots, ate at 8:30; and the rest, comprising the nurses, and men and women of the OWI, state department and four correspondents, ate at 9:00.

At 12:30, the ship's officers lunched, and then at 4:30 the Army repeated its morning schedule followed by our bunch.

The ship's officers put in their last appearance for supper at six.

After supper we generally went out on the deck until sunset, when the order to darken ship sent all indoors for the night.

It is extremely important that transports do not show any light at night so our ship, especially constructed as a troop carrier, had no portholes.

One was shooed inside by guards posted at all doors on deck forbidding anyone to leave their bunks and go outside until morning.

The ventilation was perfect, as modern air conditioning machinery circulated fresh air through every compartment of the ship and through the holds to the bridge.

At eight o'clock each night one of four units put on a show, after which there were movies.

PRAISES PERFORMERS

I cannot praise the performers enough. None of them were headliners and they will probably not get any publicity for the fine work they are doing and under all sorts of adverse conditions.

As a rule the entertainers travel five to a unit, generally three men and two girls; never a girl alone.

Our units ranged in ages from 19 to 47, and their talents ranged from card tricks to blues singing, hypnotism, juggling and tumbling, and grand opera.

They expected to spend six months in Algiers and Italy, and possibly even go to India.

All of us were deeply grateful to the entertainers, not merely for the pleasure they gave us but because of the great service they would render—and were eagerly anxious to render — to our war weary soldiers at the front.

May God reward the kind and generous and patriotic people of the theater for their unselfish service to our cause.

Stettinius Sees Foreign Envoys

LONDON, April 25 (AP)—Undersecretary of State Stettinius held a series of conferences today with military and diplomatic officials on Allied plans for administering liberated areas of Europe.

He met first with military men and William Phillips, President Roosevelt's personal representative to India and H. Freeman Matthews, deputy director to the State Department's office of European affairs.

Then he conferred with Lithgow Osborne, chief American representative of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration in London.

Noon found him deep in foreign policy talks with Foreign Secretary Eden, Russian Ambassador Gusev, Ambassador Winant, and Sir Alexander Cadogan, permanent British undersecretary of state for foreign affairs.

Seek Coughlin In Spy Trial

WASHINGTON, April 25 (INS)—An appeal to President Roosevelt to "terminate the prosecution," and "plans to seek testimony by the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin were defense moves today in the sedition conspiracy trial of 28 men and two women.

James J. Laughlin, counsel for Edward J. Smythe, disclosed he had written a letter to the President asking that the Chief Executive intervene and stop the trial, asserting it threatens to create racial disunity.

At the same time Laughlin said he would file a motion asking that Fr. Coughlin, Social Justice group leader, be called as a witness in the case.

WASHINGTON, April 25 (INS)—Rep. Sabath (D.) of Illinois officially launched his personal campaign today to oust an alleged "30,000 of surplus Army officers from the nation's cocktail lounges" by requesting the House military affairs committee to investigate all officers' assignments.

Sabath, chairman of the House rules committee, wrote Rep. May (D.) of Kentucky, chairman of the military committee, urging the investigation as an economy move to save the government "millions of dollars."

He told May he has received reports and information "there are approximately 30,000 more officers in the Army than are actually

Pilot Sits Over Sub 'Til Bombers Sink It

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—Destruction of a U-boat in two minutes of concentrated action by American carrier-based planes was reported today by the Navy.

The sub first was sighted by Lieut. (jg) Wallace A. Lafleur, 22, of Lafayette, La., who was flying on patrol from a "baby flat-top" far out in the Atlantic.

He made two bombing runs on the enemy despite antiaircraft fire, but because of evasive action, failed to score a hit.

He began circling above the U-boat, remaining there despite antiaircraft fire for 25 minutes, keeping in touch with the raider until other planes could arrive from the carrier 70 miles away.

"I'm going to sit here all night if they don't come," he told the carrier.

But they did come—two fighter planes and two torpedo bombers, piloted by Lieut. Kenneth P. Hance, 29, Tampa, Fla.; Lieut. (jg) Irving G. Cockroft, 23, Oakland, Cal.; Lieut. Glendon Goodwin, 22, Warrington, Fla., and Lieut. (jg) Harold G. Bradshaw.

Fighter Pilots Hance and Cockroft laced the enemy with bullets; Bomber Pilots Goodwin and Bradshaw roared along to drop their loads; Lafleur joined from his observation point to help in strafing.

One bomb scored a perfect hit; another struck close by; the stern of the submarine rose high out of the water—she sank two minutes after the attack began.

Lafleur won the Silver Star Medal, Hance, Cockroft and Bradshaw the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Home Folks Salute Kelly

PITTSBURGH, April 25 (AP)—Shawano street and "Mom" Kelly took "Commando" Kelly to their hearts today. Tech Sergt. Charles Edward Kelly, back on furlough from his exploits in the Italian campaign which won for him the Congressional Medal of Honor, rested in his home after a wild demonstration of greeting that lasted late into the night.

MRS. KELLY KISSES HERO SON
"Commando" Arrives Home

The slight, shy, ruddy-faced hero, credited with eliminating 40 Nazis in one of this war's most sensational actions, dodged friends and admirers "just to catch up on some sleep and see my mom."

Police guarded the entrance to his unpretentious home in Pittsburgh's "Dutchtown" section.

Mayor Cornelius Scully met the fighting Irishman at his home and offered him and his family an expensive suite in a downtown hotel, but the "Commando" replied, very courteously:

"This is good enough for Mom, and it's good enough for me."

While hundreds cheered, Mrs. Irene Kelly, a widow, with her eight other sons, met the hero at the county airport. Mrs. Kelly choked back tears

The greeting for the soldier was so lusty that in the crush at the airport Mrs. Kelly's new veiled, orchid hat was knocked from her head, and Kelly himself was nearly pushed off his feet as his eight brothers rushed down a ramp to meet him.

"Where do you want to go, Charley?" someone yelled.

"Home," yelled the "Commando" happily.

En route from the airport, the Kelly party wended through downtown Pittsburgh and thousands more cheered the young infantryman. When he reached home, hundreds of neighbors blocked the narrow, flag-festooned street.

May 14 Tribute Goes to Mothers

NEW YORK, April 25—A mighty radio audience of millions will for one hour on Sunday, May 14, join in a far-reaching tribute to the "Mother for Victory" whose sons are fighting on the battlefronts of the world.

This was predicted today by the "Mothers for Victory" committee of the N. Y. Journal-American, sponsor of the broadcast, and officials of the Blue Network who have granted the facilities of their tremendous chain of 181 stations to the unprecedented program.

Starting at 10:30 on Mothers' Day, the radio audience from coast to coast will hear:

Mrs. Patsy Gentile, mother of Capt. Don Gentile, America's ace of aces; Mrs. Carl Bong, mother of the Marine flier who has shot down 27 Jap planes; Jane Cowl, one of the country's great actresses in a dramatic play "My Mother"; Helen Jepson, Metropolitan Opera star; Wilbur Evans, Blue Network singing star; Josephine Houston, Blue Network soprano with Josef Stopak and his orchestra; The Southernaires, favorites of music lovers.

Two firemen were injured and another felled by smoke today as a stubborn three-alarm fire in the Dexter Building in downtown Washington st. climbed through thick partitions from a basement storeroom to stores above, causing total damage estimated at $330,000.

Injured and treated at City Hospital:

DONAHUE, Lieut. William J., 45, Engine 2, of Packett st., Dorchester; cut right hand.

COONEY, Thomas, 30, Ladder 17, cut right hand.

HARNEY, Paul, 27, Park Hill ave., Allston; smoke inhalation.

Thick clouds of smoke hampered the firemen, who donned gas masks and worked in relays to break down the smoldering partitions.

Fire Chief Pope, who gave an official estimate of $30,000 damage to the building itself, said the second and third alarms were sounded three hours after the first in order to bring additional manpower for the work of smashing partitions.

Auto and pedestrian traffic was blocked for more than three hours as apparatus clogged Washington, Summer and Winter sts. Fifteen policemen, under Capt. Cavanaugh, rerouted traffic from the fire area.

Harold Lang, manager of the Lerner Specialty Shop on the ground floor, said stock in the store suffered damages of $200,000. Robert Rubin, manager of Clyde Shoe Shop, said 25,000 pairs of shoes were damaged to the extent of $100,000.

More than 200 office workers on the lower four floors of the 11-story building were unable to work in the smoke-filled section. Upper floors were not seriously affected by the smoke.

The fire was discovered in the basement shortly after 4:30 by Patrolmen Charles M. Walker and Thomas Farrell. When the fire broke out on the main floor, the second and third alarms were sounded at 7:40 and 7:50 by Chief Pope.

ABOARD SPARSHIP — SPAR Mary C. McCarthy of Rivet st., Hyde Park, is now finishing up her indoctrination training at the SPARship Biltmore, Palm Beach, Fla., and will soon take over the shore station duties of a coastguardman, thus enabling him to report for combat service.

Reports Seeing Missing Girl

LOS ANGELES, April 25 (AP)—Police said they had received a report that Valsa Anna Matthai, 21-year-old member of a wealthy Indian family who has been missing since March 20, may have been seen here in a cocktail lounge Sunday.

Capt. Charles D. William of the missing persons bureau said that Roland Reed of Los Angeles reported he was certain that a girl he saw was the same person newspaper photographers had identified as Miss Matthai.

The Columbia University student, who disappeared from International House in New York City, is the daughter of Dr. John Matthai, director of a large Bombay chemical plant.

Butcher's Game Wears Out

By W. PETER MacDONALD

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP)—Markets Inspector Edna Johansen showed her credentials when a butcher charged her overceiling prices for chopped meat and sweetbreads.

The butcher skimmed his straw hat to the floor, ripped off his apron. He wheeled about and pointing a finger at the boss, Edward Braunschweiger, shouted: "I told you this would happen. You're not going to make a criminal out of me. I'm through."

Out of the store he stalked as the boss explained he was a new employe and he didn't even know his name. Braunschweiger received a warning.

Several days later Inspector Johansen returned. There was the same butcher. "I told you this was going to happen," he began, then executing a perfect double take, sighed: "Oh, oh."

Asst. Corp. Counsel Joseph Frasca declared in municipal court the butcher was William Tuerheimer, co-owner of the shop for years.

They were fined $25 each and Braunschweiger went to jail for a day.

Congress Turmoil On G. I. Bill Grows

By FRANK REILLY
Boston American Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 25—Goaded by House leadership to quit blocking the progress of the "G-I bill of rights," Chairman John E. Rankin of the committee on veterans' legislation today said he "hoped" the measure may be reported out this week, and in the next breath gave his "promise" that it will reach the floor not later than the week of May 8.

Congress remains in a turmoil over the charge, made in an editorial in Hearst newspapers Sunday, that "for the shameful failure of Congress to do justice to veterans of World War II, the responsibility belongs solely and inescapably to the Democratic party."

In a stormy session of the House, the Democratic leadership disavowed responsibility for the "unfortunate delay" and placed the blame squarely on Cong. Rankin.

SCORN PROMISE

Representatives anxious to see the omnibus bill, with its plan for rehabilitation of returning, discharged servicemen and women, passed promptly, scorned Rankin's latest promise of action on the measure.

They emphasized that the Mississippi Congressman has set nearly half a dozen deadlines beyond which, he progressively said, the bill would not be delayed. Each deadline has been broken as the stalling continued.

The ire of congressmen over the prolonged delay was especially aroused when copies of the Baltimore American, which carried the Hearst editorial on the omnibus bill Sunday, were passed around the House chamber. Cong. Rankin himself took the floor to say he refused to be "stampeded" by the editorial.

Rankin, as chairman of the House Committee on Veterans' Legislation, made this statement after Cong. Adolph Sabath of Illinois, chairman of the House Committee on Rules, had read the editorial into the record from the floor of the House. Cong. Sabath declared the Democrats were not responsible for the delay and said he did not believe Rankin was "deliberately stalling," but hoped for early action on the bill.

SENATE RAPPED

Rankin, addressing the House, declared:

"There is no particular hurry about this bill. No one is suffering because we are taking our time and I do not intend to be stampeded. I am not certain the bill will come out of committee this week."

Rankin criticized the Senate for passing the bill and said he did not believe more than two members had read the bill before voting. He said it was "stupid" to accuse the Democrats of holding it up.

Strike Threatens Gas

TOLEDO, O., April 25 (INS)—A stoppage in the flow of artificial gas to 81 Toledo industrial plants and 13,000 homes was threatened when 150 employes of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., declared a "holiday."

MRS. JENNIE PRAY, Belmont wife of Capt. Donald A. Pray, now in action on Bougainville, has hopes that her husband will be among those servicemen who will benefit by the new furlough system for men serving in the Pacific. Capt. Pray has been overseas for al most two years.

New Furlough Plan Cheers Belmont Captain's Family

Mrs. Jennie Pray, of Hull st., Belmont, wife of Capt. Donald A. Pray, 30, of the Americal Division now in action at Bougainville in the Pacific area, is "all aglow" having heard of the new furlough system about to be announced by Lieut.-Gen. Robert C. Richardson's headquarters, somewhere in the Central Pacific theater.

"It will be a happy day for me, if Don gets one of the furloughs," said Mrs. Pray, whose husband has been serving in the Pacific since before the Guadalcanal Battle of Aug., 1942.

Capt. Pray

The bulletin from Gen. Richardson's headquarters stated that a new system of furloughs for men serving in the Pacific area will be announced soon.

Capt. Pray a veteran of the Guadalcanal Battle, is a holder of the Purple Heart with Oak Leaf Cluster, received for injuries during the battle. The first injury was received from Jap shrapnel, at which time he refused to be removed to a First Aid Station behind the lines, preferring to be treated on the scene by medical corpsmen; and the second injury as a result of a Jap sniper. At both times his injuries were treated on the scene, and allowing him to stay with his men, with no time lost in action.

Prior to his Army service, Capt. Pray rated with the best as a sharpshooter, having placed first in many of the topnotch meets. He is a former holder of the Hearst Sharpshooter Trophy.

Boy, 16, Accused in Golden Slipper Case

ELKHART, Ind., April 25 (AP)—A 16-year-old Elkhart youth was charged with grand larceny in the disappearance of a golden slipper belonging to Actress Colleen Moore.

The slipper was one of a pair valued at $1200 by Louis Shannon, manager of Miss Moore's dollhouse exhibit.

Fifth Baby Dies in Acid Mixup

Special to Boston Evening American

NEW YORK, April 25—Death claimed another infant victim of New London's boric acid mixup yesterday, bringing the toll of that tragedy to five, and New York Commr. of Hospitals Bernecker took a final, decisive step to insure against such a thing ever happening here.

Louis Samuels, chief pharmacist for the city's 28 hospitals, was ordered to instruct all municipal pharmacists to color boric acid a bright pink, through use of Amaranth, a harmless synthetic used in the past for foods, drugs and cosmetics.

The fifth baby to die at the Lawrence and Memorial Association hospitals since the fatal mistake two weeks ago, was Brien Alan Harvey, 16-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Harvey. Fate played a grim trick in this case—the father is a pharmacist's mate in the Coast Guard.

Eight other babies have continued to improve and are believed to be out of danger. All the babies were given boric acid instead of dextros in their feeding formulas.

The coloring agent, Amaranth, which will henceforth tint boric acid crystals in municipal institutions here, is on the federal certified list of harmless administratives.

Chief Parmacist Samuels explained that about one grain, mixed with water, will color one pound of boric acid. Then the crystals will be dried and bottled in 15-ounce containers. Private institutions will be urged to follow New York city's pioneering move to end forever misuse of the acid compound.

Taking note of the Hearst newspapers' editorial stand urging such precautionary steps be made nationwide by federal law, Samuels suggested that Rep. Bloom (D.) of New York, incorporate required use of amaranth by manufacturers into a bill he is submitting to amend the U. S. Pure Food & Drug Act.

Bloom has announced he will seek to have all boric acid containers labeled "poison."

Connecticut's Food, Drug and Dairy Commr. Sweeney disclosed that he had received a preliminary report in the investigation of the New London baby deaths, but would not comment on it now. Neither has Coroner Edward G. McKay issued any report of the star-chamber inquest conducted in New London last week.

Z

Every time we receive a shipment of gabardine shirts (and we got a large one yesterday) I am reminded of that pulsing day in September, 1933, when this shop was opened. That was a nervous day for me because after much preparation and more prayer it was my first real opportunity to sense the temper of my neighborhood. One day wouldn't foretell my future, I knew, but it would give me an inkling. When I say that I was as short of breath as a sailor on shore leave I am indulging in no idle metaphor.

Anyway, someone finally walked in and was he a pipperoo. He was oldish, had a battered felt hat worn off center, was wearing an ancient tweed suit that was a challenge to the Morgan Memorial and sported a nondescript topcoat buttoned with absolutely no thought for relevance. I proceeded to meet my bride. Cupping his left ear with his hand he asked me if I liked the shirts we were displaying in our State Street window. I said I did. Then he asked me if I liked the ties featured in the same window. I still stood my ground. Then without a word as to prices he said "I'll take the three combinations." It happened that these "combinations" were $7.50 gabardine shirts and $3.50 cashmere ties so the three units displayed meant a $33 sale. I was literally ashiver, but I was trained never to quote a price to a customer unless the price was asked for so I wrapped my little package in silence and gave it to our hero. Now, please remember the background — this is September 1933, this is Boston, this is my first customer in an enterprise that even my best friends thought was sheer lunacy, and above all else remember my man. But, to go on, he took the sales check, reached into his wallet, paid me the precise amount and without saying a word started walking toward the door. Just before getting there, however, he retraced his steps and said "Who owns this store?" I said that I did after a fashion and then he did something I'll never forget. He stuck out his hand and said "My boy, you have more — — nerve than anyone I have met in a long time. I know you'll succeed." With that he walked out.

Well, that's all there is. That gentleman since has become one of my best customers and still buys those same gabardine shirts from me, except now they're not quite as good as they used to be and cost ten dollars apiece.

Cardinal

the Liturgical Choir of St Francis' Seraphic Seminary, Lowell, in singing the Gregorian Requiem Mass.

Following the services, Fr. Daly addressed the assembled children, saying:

"William Cardinal O'Connell, foremost Catholic in the United States, dean of the American hierarchy, beloved Archbishop of Boston, has gone to his eternal reward. The Angels of Death have taken him to his home in Heaven with God.

"During his many long years, his achievements were great. His birth was humble and his destiny sublime. His parents were poor but his inheritance of sanctity and intelligence was rich indeed. He always remained a stalwart friend of the poor.

MANY ACCOMPLISHMENTS

"He was a man of character who held fast to high ideals. He loved God and was His faithful servant. Many were his titles and his claims to fame. Many were his accomplishments.

"A renowned scholar, eloquent speaker, author and writer and musician, as an educator he directed many institutions of learning, beginning with his rectorship of North American College in Rome. He established the Papal Seminary in Japan.

"He was a master in the art of government, which won him world-wide acclaim.

"Boston owes a great debt of gratitude to Cardinal O'Connell. We are indebted to him for wise guidance and unfaltering zeal. By precept and example he strove to make the children of this archdiocese saintly and good citizens.

"His place will be hard to fill."

ADMISSION BY TICKET

After the services the children left their places, pew by pew, and filed past the bier, then left the edifice by a side door.

Admission to the mass today was by ticket, and that system will prevail at similar services at 10 a. m. each through Friday, when the funeral will be conducted.

Tomorrow's solemn mass will be attended by lay representatives and the Thursday mass will be for the religious of the archdiocese.

Daily, until the funeral mass Friday, the cathedral will be open to the public from approximately 11 a. m.—or following the end of the solemn requiem mass—until 10 p. m., to permit the public to view the body of the churchman as it lies in state before the altar.

All scheduled activities of Catholic societies have been cancelled out of respect to the Cardinal. Boston public schools will close on Friday, parochial schools on Thursday and Friday, and all Catholic colleges in the archdiocese have cancelled classes for the latter part of the week.

At the conclusion of today's mass, long lines of men and women from all walks of life came to pay silent tribute to the Cardinal.

CONTINUOUS LINE

Professional men, executives, bankers, city officials moved forward in the lines alongside of men in work clothes who came to visit on their way to or from their shifts in war plants. Women, some faultlessly attired, others in coats worn over house dresses, took their places in the seemingly endless queues.

Seldom did these cosmopolitan Bostonians allow a pause in the lines as they shuffled slowly up the stairs. Gaps were quickly closed by ever-arriving newcomers as those in the church passed between the honor guard and the bier, then turned to the left or right, and departed, or knelt at the altar rail to pray.

FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD
Ex-Mayor at Cathedral

Among those in line were many of different faiths who came to pay respect in their own way, and the simplicity and sincerity of those filing in and out of the Cathedral throughout the day was equally as impressive as the solemn grandeur of the ancient ecclesiastical ceremony which will mark the week of mourning.

GREATER CROWDS

Many representatives of the armed forces of all ranks took part in the informal procession. There were soldiers, sailors and Marines, WACS, WAVES and SPARS.

Today's crowds were even greater than the throng of devout persons who waited in yesterday's heavy rain to enter the church after the Cardinal's body was brought to the Cathedral from the episcopal residence in Lake st., Brighton.

At the main door of the Cathedral the funeral cortege was met by Most Rev. Richard J. Cushing, D. D., the Cardinal's former auxiliary bishop and inter-regnum administrator of the archdiocese, and more than a score other monsignori and priests.

Then to the solemn chanting of the "De Profundis . . . Out of the depths, O Lord" and the "Miserere," the body of the venerable prelate was brought to the foot of the main altar, where it will lie in state until Friday morning, when a solemn pontifical funeral mass will be celebrated with His Excellency, Most Rev. Amleto Cicognani, apostolic delegate to Washington, presiding; and with Denis Cardinal Dougherty, of Philadelphia, and many high church and state dignitaries attending.

22 PRIESTS ATTEND

With Bishop Cushing clad in a white surplice over his red cassock, surmounted by a black and gold cope and amice, and white mitre, were 32 other priests and monsignori, including Msgr. Richard J. Haberlin, vicar-general, and Rev. Edward G. Horan, administrator of the Cathedral.

After blessing the body with holy water he led the recessional to the catafalque. As the priests approached the sanctuary they lined up along the inside of the altar rail, when the bishop led the chanting of the "Miserere."

Tenderly, the body of the Cardinal was placed on the catafalque, which had been placed on an Oriental rug in the center of a square formed by the removal of five rows of pews from the front of the church.

BRIGHT IN ROBES

Against the purple drapes of the raised bier, the Cardinal's ceremonial robes shone bright. His gloved hands, marked with embroidered crosses, were folded and his episcopal ring was placed over the glove finger.

Three mounted tapers, about eight feet tall burned on each side of the bier, casting a flickering light throughout the darkened edifice, where family relatives of the Cardinal knelt in sorrow in the front pews on the right side of the aisle.

GUARD OF HONOR

Four Boston firemen lined one side of the catafalque, and four police officers stood on the other, as the first honor guard during the service, but were replaced later by members of the Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus.

After the "Miserere," Bishop Cushing, followed by Msgr. Haberlin and the other priests, stepped outside the rail and circled the catafalque, making the sign of the cross and touching the Cardinal's forehead in blessing.

At the conclusion of the service, members of the Cardinal's family left the Cathedral and the doors were thrown open to the public. The first to enter to pay his respects was Fire Commr. William A. Reilly.

LEADS KNIGHTS' GUARD

Prominent laymen of Greater Boston formed the group of pall bearers, including Frederick A. Carroll, Bartholomew A. Brickley, Dr. Fred A. Good, Chief Justice John P. Higgins, Emmet Logue, Frederick W. Mansfield, Dr. James P. O'Hare, Richard Shaw, Judge John E. Swift, Sen. David I. Walsh, James H. Carney, Gen. F. V. Logan and Dr. Michael E. McGarty.

The honor guard of members of the Bishop Cheverus Assembly, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus, was led by John J. Delay, master, and Thomas McInerney, navigator. Included in the group were James A. Flanagan, Paul Tierney, Eugene Corbett, John O'Flanagan, James Terry, John Nureau, Edward Morley, Thomas Murray and Daniel J. McLaughlin.

Japs Admit Allied Attacks Get Stronger

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP)—Attesting to the growing strength of Allied attacks on Japanese supply lines, the Tokyo radio quoted a Japanese war ministry statement today as saying the "hardships which confront our seamen directly participating in the maintenance of supplies are beyond our imagination."

The broadcast said both the United States and Britain were "mobilizing great numbers of airplanes and submarines."

The Army doesn't endorse any product. Neither may any of its personnel.

But here at Buick we get letters from people who've learned that Buick powers the Liberator.

And there's one that holds a special place with us because of what shines through its direct and homely phrasing. It reads, in essence:

"This bomber I was in had Buick's bomber engines. Well, we got shot up bad . . . Our engines were shot up bad too . . . They held out just long enough to get us back to our base.

"We 8 of that bomber thank all you folks for doing a good job on them engines. We can't lose with folks like you all that are making them engines."

No heroics. No colorful writing about bursting flak, riddled wings, vicious enemy attack.

Just faith. Good, solid American trust in every word!

What honest American can fail to put his best into any task, big or little, with faith like that riding on what he does?

Buick powers the Liberator. And as long as we do, we'll do the best job we've ever done on anything.

'43 INS News Prize Goes to Handleman

NEW YORK, April 25 (INS)—By unanimous vote of the judges, International News Service War Correspondent Howard Handleman was named winner of the George R. Holmes Memorial Award for 1943.

This journalistic honor, awarded annually for the outstanding example of an International News Service reporter's work in the domestic or foreign field, was established in 1939 to perpetuate the memory of the late George R. Holmes, for many years manager of the I. N. S. Washington bureau and one of the most respected newspapermen in the nation's capital.

Handleman is the fifth recipient of the coveted award. His selection by an editorial board of judges was announced to hundreds of publishers and editors at a luncheon in the Waldorf-Astoria given by the Banshees in connection with the annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers' Ass'n now under way.

Handleman, a 30-year-old native of California, was honored for his coverage of the historic campaign in the Aleutian Islands, of which the correspondent later wrote extensively in a widely-praised book called "Bridge to Victory."

The judges were Ralph McGill, editor of the Atlanta Constitution; Paul Bellamy, editor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, C. Walter McCarty, editor of the Indianapolis News, and Joseph V. Connolly, president, and Barry Faris, editor-in-chief of International News Service.

Vesuvius Lava Ruins 35 Allied Planes

NAPLES, April 25 (AP)—Nearly half of 70 Allied airplanes swept by lava and rock dust in the recent eruption of Mt. Vesuvius were wrecked beyond repair, Allied headquarters announced today.

The planes were caught on nearby fields when the volcano suddenly came to life. Twenty already have been returned to combat status, and "our air operations were not appreciably affected by the damage," the announcement said, adding there were no casualties.

Dewey Leads F. D. Today, Poll Shows

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

WASHINGTON, April 25 (INS)—Gov. Dewey of New York would be a heavy favorite to win the presidency from Franklin D. Roosevelt in an election held today.

A coast-to-coast survey shows Dewey would beat Roosevelt in 19 states if the balloting were today. These states have 272 votes in the electoral college, 266 are necessary to win.

Roosevelt would be the favorite today to carry 17 states, having only 150 votes. The other 12 states, with 109 votes, must be regarded as battlegrounds.

BAY STATE FOR DEWEY

The GOP "Victory" states and their electoral vote are:

Maine, 5; Vermont, 3; Massachusetts, 16; New York, 47; New Jersey, 16; Pennsylvania, 35; Ohio, 25; Indiana, 13; Illinois, 28; Iowa, 10; Kansas, 8; Colorado, 6; Idaho, 4; North Dakota, 4; South Dakota, 4; Nebraska, 6; Minnesota, 11; and Michigan, 19. Total, 272.

Roosevelt states and vote:

Arizona 4, New Mexico 4, Nevada 3, Utah 4, Montana 4, Arkansas 9, Texas 23, Louisiana 10, Tennessee 12, Mississippi 9, Alabama 11, Florida 8, Georgia 12, South Carolina 8, North Carolina 14, Virginia 11 and Rhode Island 4. Total 150.

The "battleground" states and votes:

Washington 8, Oregon 6, California 25, Wyoming 3, Oklahoma 10, Missouri 15, Kentucky 11, West Virginia 8, Maryland 8, Delaware 3, Connecticut 8 and New Hampshire 4. Total 109.

All buy Wyoming, Oklahoma, West Virginia and Maryland have elected Republican governors since 1940. Washington has two Democratic senators, but its House delegation is split three-three. Oregon has two Republican senators and four Republicans in the House. California has one Republican and one Democratic senator, with its House delegation split: 13 Republicans, 10 Democrats.

REPUBLICAN TREND

Oklahoma elected a Republican senator in 1942 and a Republican mayor in Tulsa the other day. Its House delegation is seven-to-one Democratic.

Missouri has two Democratic senators but a Republican governor, with five Democrats and eight Republicans in the House.

Kentucky elected a Republican governor last year, while West Virginia elected a Republican Senator in 1942 to break their long Democratic balloting.

Maryland is normally Democratic, but Republicans believe they have enough chance to carry it to make it a battleground. Delaware, once loyal to Roosevelt, has elected a Republican governor and Senator since 1940.

Connecticut is in the hands of the Republicans but Roosevelt's personal strength in that state makes it a battleground. New Hampshire is also controlled by the Republicans, but once again Roosevelt's personal popularity puts it in the battleground class.

News Tip Prize Goes to Woburn

A Woburn woman who telephoned the city editor with first word of a fire which swept a large fertilizer plant in Woburn st., won the first award of $3 in the week's news tip contest of the Daily Record-American and Sunday Advertiser.

Five others will be given $2 each. They are a Chelsea man who phoned in the dramatic news of a two-alarm fire from which seven were rescued; a Back Bay woman who had both information and pictures of an auto crash; a Somerville junior high school youth who called in word of a man killed by a train in Central sq., Cambridge; a Somerville woman who told the story of a cat saved from choking by firemen, and a Cambridge man who phoned news of an explosion which blew off three manhole covers and injured a boy.

Other informants who were the first to telephone tips on other newsworthy events were given $1 each for on such events as safe breaks, fires, sudden deaths, a runaway horse, court scenes, freak accidents and other happenings.

Bricker to Refuse 2d Place on Ticket

NEW YORK, April 25 (INS)—Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio declared flatly today he is no interested in becoming Republican candidate for Vice-President on a ticket headed by Gov. Dewey or anyone else.

Questioned concerning persistent reports a Dewey-Bricker ticket might be in the making for the 1944 Republican national convention in Chicago, Bricker replied:

"I am not interested in the vice-presidency. I am a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination and I am not interested in anything else."

Bringing his campaign to the nation's largest city for the first time, Bricker earlier was disclosed to be counting on the support of 257 pledged delegates on the first ballot at Chicago. That prediction was made in the face of growing evidence Dewey may be named on the first ballot.

Bricker said he didn't go along with the latter idea at all. He said he was encouraged for his own chances by his most recent swing through the Midwest, but added, "I haven't any suspicion who the nominee will be at the Chicago convention."

The Governor was quite certain, however, the nation will go Republican next fall. He asserted:

"There is a general feeling that the New Deal has been in too long. People are worried about inefficiency and the burdensome government, the uncertainty of its policies.

"They fear a continuation of the New Deal would completely overbalance the executive branch of the government and relegate the states farther down the list and by the appointment of judges, overbalance the courts."

Declaring he thought the coming campaign should be fought along domestic as well as international issues, Bricker added however, he was quite sure the American people have confidence in their military leaders.

"As far as the election is concerned," he added, "the coming invasion might have tremendous effect on the sentiments of this country."

Cruel Fox Hunting Protests Pouring In

"It is only a short step from beating animals to death to clubbing humans. How can any mother allow her child to witness, let alone to take part, in such a brutal sport?"

That sums up the horrified indignation of Boston American readers to the pictorial display of a fox hunt, without guns, conducted by residents of Holmes County, Ohio. The pictures were published in the American April 11.

"Barbaric . . . depraved . . . horrible . . . beastly . . . cowardly," were some of the expressions employed in letters to the American to describe the reactions of the writers to the pictures which showed hundreds of Holmes County residents surrounding a fox while a tiny, grinning youngster prepared to club the animal to death.

Mrs. P. L. Dodd, Hyde Park, former Boston school teacher wrote:

"No mother I have ever known would consent to such a form of education (teaching the children to beat to death a fox or any other animal). Shoot the animal, and quickly, if need be but to hold an open 'get-to-gether' of 600 bloodthirsty male brutes, and their depraved audience is a practice I would not believe existed in America."

In a letter from Mrs. Minot Burnham, Pope's lane, Danvers, the hunt was described as "a disgrace to the entire country."

"Where is the kindness to animals spirit which we Americans so proudly flaunt? For SHAME, people of Holmes County, Ohio!"

Miss Grace Vadney, Boston, wrote:

"It doesn't seem possible that here in America a person could be guilty of such a brutal act and then, to add insult to injury, call it 'sport'.

"I hope the Animal Rescue League and other organizations can find it in their power to put an end to such un-American 'sport'."

A Navy machinist, Paul Spence, called the hunt "very disgusting" and suggested "they spend more time in the factories and let the conservation department do their work."

Mrs. Ruth Lacoste of Kingstown, R. I., expressing horror at the pictures, wondered "if our boys should not give up their fight" if victory would make America "free and peaceful to be overrun by brutal men and women to raise their young to treat animals in this fashion."

All the writers demanded that legal steps be taken to abolish the Holmes County type of fox-hunt.

Scientist Asks Study of Bible

Unreserved dependence on the Bible for guidance in this era of swift changes in the social order was urged last night by Adair Hickman, C. S. B., of New York, in a lecture at The First Church of Christ, Scientist.

A member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, he said:

"It is imperative that we heed, more faithfully than ever before, Christ Jesus' command—for it was a command—to 'search the scriptures; for in them ye think ye have eternal life, and they are they which testify of Me.'

"The carnal will," added the lecturer, "claims to separate man wholly from God's government—from all knowledge or love of God—and then to rule mankind absolutely in God's stead. Whatever ideology the carnal mind may assume, it is the very antithesis of Christianity. In essence it is always atheism, paganism, as idolatrous as was the image-worship against which the ancient prophets constantly warned Israel."

3 in State Win Honors in Navy

Three Massachusetts sailors have been commended officially for their bravery in repulsing flights of enemy aircraft which attacked the merchant ships on which they served in Navy armed guard units, First Naval District headquarters announced today.

The chief of naval personnel commended Philip William Hashun, 23, radioman 3/c, of Harrison st., Fall River, for his part in driving off planes attacking the SS Ezra Meeker off Gela, Sicily, July 11, 1943.

Joseph Paul Hines, 31, signalman 2/c, of Lawrence st., Danvers, and Alcides Oliver Padre, 21, coxswain, of Elwell st., Gloucester, received identical letters of commendation for staying at their posts and helping shoot down enemy planes despite continuous bomb attacks on their vessel, the SS William Dean Howells, at Salerno, last September.

Face the Whole Truth About Japan

JAPAN'S MENACE does not consist entirely of guns and bullets fashioned from the scrap metal which gullible Americans supplied her in the decade before Pearl Harbor.

In greater measure Japan's menace consists of her ability to prey continuously on he credulousness of gullible Americans.

With the same audacity by which she obtained America's kitchen stoves to convert into weapons for the slaughter of America's sons, Japan is now attempting to beguile and befuddle America's mind with the bait of a negotiated peace.

Her propaganda line is as old as it is insidious.

Japan, it says, will represent no danger to the world if she is permitted "reasonable expansion.

Moreover, the emperor is safe figurehead for a more democratic Japan of the future, wherein Japanese and Christian religious principles might be reconciled.

This is calculated to attract well-meaning American groups which habitually think on humanitarian levels.

And it is especially tailored for Pacifistic elements whose thought processes are more apt to be emotional than factual.

The propaganda line does not say that any negotiated peace which would permit Japan to keep even a fraction of the territories she has wrenched from other peoples would be a victory for her.

Having benefited tremendously by American gullibility in the past, the Japanese do not expect the intended victims of their deceit to look so far ahead.

BUT in this expectation the Japanese have made the mistake of falling into the depths of their own credulousness.

There are Americans who think.

There are Americans who can and do look ahead.

One of them is Admiral William F. Halsey, Jr., who as head of the Allied forces in the South Pacific, knows and fully appreciates the menace of Japan. Another is Representative Harry R. Sheppard of California and another is Representative Lowell Stockman of Oregon.

Admiral Halsey once warned:

"There's one definite place that has got to be taken—that's Tokyo—AND DON'T LET 'EM STOP US UNTIL WE GET IT."

In Washington, Representative Sheppard said:

"Halsey is supremely confident of an eventual victory over Japan, and is aware that Japan has built part of her war precautions on the possibility of persuading the United States into the concessions that a negotiated peace would entail.

"Halsey doubtless also realizes that if this happens, the complete military victory he anticipates in this war will be wasted, and the present conflict will BE BUT THE START OF OUR TROUBLE WITH JAPAN."

Even more critical of Americans who allow themselves to be lulled into ruinous complacency by lying propaganda, Representative Stockman continued:

"The Japanese intended to seize exactly what they already have taken, defend it bitterly to weary us, and keep all of it by defeating us or part of it by negotiation.

"Official Japanese documents and the public writings of Japanese leaders show that Japan sees this war merely as a campaign in a century of world conquest.

"If we are to halt this over-all plan, Japan's defeat must be made crushing IN THE FIRST ROUND."

Now is the time to face the whole, stark truth that Japan is waging this war for sufficient gain to permit preparations for a greater war in the future.

Tomorrow may be too late.

Australia Relaxes

PRIME MINISTER JOHN CURTIN of Australia declared on his arrival in San Francisco recently that partial demobilization of Australian armed forces is justified by the improved Southwest Pacific military situation.

"As the proportion of American forces is increased at greater distances," he said, "it becomes desirable for reallocation of forces to serve them."

This is a situation regarding which there has been and is going to be misunderstanding and controversy.

For the inevitable and natural reaction in the United States is that since the improved situation in the Southwest Pacific is made possible by the expanding American forces, why not let some of THEM come home?

Prime Minister Curtin insists the Australian Army is not being reduced in its actual combat strength.

What is happening, he says, is that over-age men called for combat duty during the emergency but never really suitable for it are now being returned to civilian occupations for which they are suited.

But the American forces also include many men unsuited for combat by age or other reasons.

And the question becomes largely one of whether the Australians who were rescued from danger or the Americans who CAME to their rescue should be the first to undertake and benefit by the processes of partial demobilization?

WASHINGTON, April 25—The Red Cross, as no American needs to be told, is doing a great and splendid work. It is performing countless vital tasks, many of which go almost completely unpublicized.

Red Cross workers find little time for relaxation or amusement these days. Their hours and all their strength and effort go for the cause. But every now and then something crops up in the course of the day's labors to brighten the moment and lift the pall of gravity.

I have before me a fairly good example of this. It is a collection of sentences taken from actual letters received by the Red Cross organization of a certain county in New Jersey, the identity of which I promised to omit.

The letters are from the female next of kin of servicemen. These ladies are asking for—or correcting—applications for pay allotments. Here they are—and I hope you will find them as entrancing as I did:

1—"Please send me my elopement as I have a four-month-old baby and he is my only support and I need all I can get every day to buy food and keep him close."

2—"Please send me my wife's form to fill out."

3—"Please send me a letter and tell me if my husband has made application for a wife and baby."

4—"I have already wrote to the President, and if I don't hear from you I will write to Uncle Sam and tell him about both."

5—"This is my eighth child, what are you going to do about it?"

6—"I can't get any of my sick pay. I have six children, can you tell me what this is?"

7—"Am forwarding my marriage certificate and two children."

8—"In answer to your letter I gave birth to a baby weighing 101 pounds. Hope this is satisfactory."

9—"I've changed my little boy to a girl. Does this make any differences?"

10—"In accordance with your instructions I have given birth to twins in the enclosed envelope."

11—"I am told my husband sits in the W. M. C. A. every night with the piano in uniform."

MR. WALTER O'KEEFE, the comedian was in town the other day to get some information for a musical comedy he is writing. Of course, Washington is the place to get material for a musical comedy, but not everybody recognizes this.

Mr. O'Keefe, it seems, had the naive idea that he would be able to go straight to the source of the information he desired, get it nicely bottled up, and be back on the train for his home in Connecticut in time to flog his kiddies before bedtime.

What all happened to Mr. O'Keefe he declined to reveal, but he had a more harassed and sour look than is customary even with a comedian, when I saw him.

His only comment for publication was this:

"The Office of War Information seems to be a place where you go to draw your own confusions."

Gie me ae spark o' Nature's fire
That's a' the learning I desire;
Then tho' I drudge thro' dub and mire
At plough or cart
My muse, tho' namely in attire,
May touch the heart.
—BURNS.

WHAT BURNS claims as above is especially true of song writers. Irving Berlin had no educational advantages yet he has "the spark of fire" that has enabled him to write more popular songs that have "touched the heart" than any living man. The greatest American song writer of all time in this respect had no education to speak of either. That was Stephen Foster . . . Marlene Dietrich is insured for $250,000 in her daughter's favor. In case of death by accident the beneficiary gets double . . . Pierre Laval avoided army service for France in World War I on the ground he had varicose veins . . . Discussing the subject of tips, a contemporary says a 15-cent tip is enough to give a manicurist in a beauty shop. Those beauty shop manicurists must be easy to get along with. Give a barber shop nail polisher less than a 50-cent tip and her fury is similar to that of a woman scorned.

ASIDES: Said Sarah Bernhardt: "I always swore that if I ever married it would be simply to make myself more popular with all men; for I was never blind to the fact that men like a woman better for being another man's property" . . . Note some cigarettes smoked by females are red-tipped in order to prevent lipstick smear showing. An excellent idea. To see an otherwise neat appearing young woman fingering a lipstick-smeared cigarette is a sad sight . . . Here's a postwar idea for tourist bureaus: Have a "follow the home town ball club on the road" tour. A flat rate for railroad fare, game admissions, hotel, meals, etc. Imagine the fun a party of Brooklynites would have going on a road tour with the Dodgers!

PASSING BY: Ed "Strangler" Lewis. Wrestling marvel. In his middle fifties he is still going strong as a wrestler. Fierce of appearance in the ring, Lewis in private life is a very mild-mannered man. He hates to lose his temper. When annoyed by a feminine autoist he never shouts or speaks rudely to her but hands her a card on which is printed:

Oh, the years we waste,
And the tears we waste
Getting out of traffic jams
Because of women drivers
Who never know
And never can understand!

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Name the 12 most effective advertising slogans of all time. A—Would need a little time on that. However, no such list should omit the slogan: "Walk Upstairs and Save Ten" . . . Q—What man said: "What is woman? Only one of Nature's agreeable blunders." A—It wasn't a man who made that slightly nasty crack. It was a woman—Hannah Cowley . . . Q—What kind of dog is a whippet? Can it beat a greyhound? A—Whippet is a cross between a greyhound and a terrier and is the fastest of all dogs . . . Q—Can your Mules & Men Department advise me what to do with a husband who refuses to learn to dance? A—About the only thing you can do is ask him that if he won't dance with you does he mind your dancing with someone else? Nobody who likes to dance should marry a man who does not care for dancing. Research has revealed a man and wife who dance well together usually get along nicely in matrimony and rarely reach the divorce court.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: The Be-Kind-to-Animals Week is a success as usual. Once more we ask how about a Be-Kind-to-Each-Other Week? The week between Christmas and New Year's would be nice for this . . . A young matron of Manhattan informs me it is not enough for a man to say he likes a woman's hat. He must tell her why. Keep that in mind the next time the little lady asks you about her chapeau.

POSTMASTER GENERAL WALKER does not appreciate people—especially in magazines—who go around without being bundled in clothing. He has knocked one magazine off a mailing list because many of its pictorial ladies are not overdressed.

Well, this same Mr. Walker has signed an order permitting his postmen to go around in their shirt sleeves this summer.

Leave us all avert our eyes from the hussies.

A GOB deliberately stabbed a Rear Admiral with a fork the other night—and got away with it!

What happened was this: The gob had been guzzling too enthusiastically and fell asleep over his dinner in a restaurant. He wakened, however, just in time to see a hand sneak past and grab his pat of butter.

With automatic reaction he grabbed his fork and pinned the pilfering hand to the table. Then he did a slow pan upwards—his eye traveling from hand to sleeve.

As he reached the first rung of gold braid he stiffened in horror. Finally he forced himself to look the rest of the way upward to meet the enraged and anguished gaze of one of our better known admirals.

The admiral began to sputter but suddenly desisted. The thought apparently came to him that if he preferred charges he would also have to admit the the attempted butter-swiping.

He took the stabber outside and lectured him on the evils of drink. Finally he said:

"Don't let this happen again." Then, extending his hand: "Glad to have met you!"

HOLLYWOOD, April 25—Belita, the little queen of ice, who is so good she is more and more a threat to Sonja Henie's supremacy, is coming into her own.

Late this summer Belita starts from New York in a $350,000 extravaganza on ice (show to you) and she will be a solid year on tour that takes the troupe all around the country. That might sound as though she would be away from the screen that long, but such isn't the case.

Marjorie Main

Trem Carr, president of Monogram who is financing the show and the tour, will be making a complete movie as the caravan on skates wheels along. Both the show and the movie will be titled "Holiday On Ice," and will be filmed in Technicolor. This is the break Belita has rated for a long time. She's not only a beautiful girl with acting ability but she is a joy to behold on the ice.

CHARLES BOYER, who has developed a yen for supernatural stories like "Flesh and Fantasy" and eerie numbers like "Gaslight," took an adaptation of the French classic short story, "Jettatura," by Theophile Gautier, to Canada with him. He's reading it for his next independent at "U." The story deals with the superstition of the evil eye and has a background of Naples in 1895. Personally, I would like to see Boyer go back to as ardent a love story as the Hays Office permits.

MARJORIE MAIN is one gal who doesn't mind being typed. "I could never be a glamour girl," she sighs. Which is all right with most fans. There are plenty of glamour girls around. But there is only one pistol packin' Marjorie. Now Paramount has borrowed her from M-G-M for the character lead in Fred MacMurray's picture, "Murder." He says, "Yep, once again Margie plays a hillbilly woman who smokes a clay pipe, carries a musket and who is so tough she has put five husbands in their graves."

ANITA LOOS is certainly proud of her niece, Mary Anita Loos, happy over the young lady's success in the writing field. Mary Anita, who has both beauty and brains, is the daughter of Dr. Clifford Loos and she wouldn't have to write a word if she didn't feel like it, so it's not to keep the wolf from the door. (Anyway, wolves these days are seldom kept away.) Mary has just sold two stories, one a paratrooper yarn and the other, "The Terrible Woman," which she authored in collaboration with Walter Duranty and sold to a national magazine.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Ann Sheridan says she expects to get an overseas assignment from the Victory Committee the middle of June. That's when she will be free to go. She laughed when I said it was rumored she might detour and marry Steve Hannagan and denied she had any such intention; the Bing Crosby kids have planted two acres of Victory Garden and most of it didn't have to be replanted; Joan Fontaine leaves the 8th to close the Canadian war loan drive. She will also make a speech at the airplane plant of her cousin, Sir Jeffrey De Havilland; the Frank Sinatras have reservations at the Beverly Hills Hotel where they will live until their home in the Valley is ready; Lieut. Robert Preston finally caught up in England with his brother, Stuart, whom he hasn't seen in two years. Stuart is a gunner stationed there; George Jessel's famous "Ma" is coming to visit him and to meet her granddaughter; Fred Astaire is very disappointed that his sister, Adele, isn't coming over to visit him. He thought after the death of her husband, Lord Cavendish, she might come to Hollywood. She writes that her place is with the Red Cross in London.

Broadway . . . .By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, April 25—Not long ago Gertrude Niesen, wearing one of those dresses that keeps everybody warm but her, was crooning a torch song at a big bond rally when suddenly a soldier standing in the crowd turned to a sailor standing beside him and punched him in the nose. "There," he snarled, "that's for insulting a lady." "I haven't said a word," protested the shocked gob. "Yah," sneered the soldier, "but don't think I don't know what you're thinking!"

★ ★ ★

GERTRUDE NIESEN, Broadway's newest click, looks like a cherub who has just been given a hotfoot, and a great deal of her success can be attributed not only to the way she sings her songs, but what people are thinking while she sings them. Since the recent opening of "Follow the Girls," she has been hailed as a great new "find" in a barrage of praise from the fourth estaters, but those with fair memories along Broadway remember her when she was a gleam in Jimmy Cannon's eye, and that was about 10 years ago and she was a star then. She did her torching in the spotlights of the big cafes and sometimes behind the network microphones, but always in those glove-tight gowns with the deep necklines and always with her strange hot little oriental eyes half shut and her arms stretched out to the stars that were always fake stars in a night club ceiling. Away from the spotlights and the microphones she was anything but torchy; she was a clown-girl a four-in-the-morning wit, a comedienne.

The news now is that she is a comedienne when the curtain goes up, and getting paid very high stakes for it, and the customers are laughing and the boys on the aisle are making neat little bows from the waist. It makes the Broadway crowd very happy.

George Holland
Boston After Dark

A TIP-OFF TO THE FACTIONALISM which rages currently in the Democratic party was the 11th-hour circular letter sent to voters of Brighton and Newton particularly, and to voters of other wards incidentally, by a Boston city councilor . . . The letter probably reminded many voters that today was election day of delegates to the Democratic convention, but if it served its intended purpose of discrimination among Democrats, it very likely failed to succeed.

★ ★ ★

TOPPED BY A large picture of the President, the letter urged its recipients to vote for the sender (the Boston city councilor), and only one other candidate among the four candidates of the unpledged slate from that particular district . . . The two unordained candidates whose names appeared in lightface type, without a cross marked opposite their names, were School Committeeman Michael J. Ward and David J. Brickley, past commander of the Legion of Valor . . . Although all four were running for delegate to the convention in that district and presumably together — Messrs. Ward and Brickley were running also on the Ely slate . . . The chances are that Delegate-candidates Ward and Brickley would vote against 16 years in the White House for Roosevelt on whichever ticket they happened to win a nomination . . . Nevertheless, there was no assurance of this, and should they happen to win today as unpledged delegates, the President might have their support (unlikely though the prospect), at the Chicago convention . . . The importance of the letter lay in the brazen use of President Roosevelt's name on an "unpledged slate," and the acknowledgment that the unpledged slate held at least two prospective delegates whose votes for 16 years in the White House were conceded to the opposition from the very start.

★ ★ ★

SHEILA BARRETT AT THE RENAISSANCE ROOM of the Touraine and Harry Richman at the Latin Quarter are indications of the gamble Boston nightclub owners are taking in an effort to counter the oppressive 30 per cent tax on cabarets . . . If Richman or Miss Barrett, two of the top "names" in the cabaret circuit, fail to draw patronage to their respective current establishments, then the situation would seem to be desperate indeed . . . The personable Harry is in rare form, and if Dave Wilson, King of the Hoss Handicappers, were reviewing Miss Barrett he could sum up her present appearance in Boston with one of several brief, but pithy, phrases . . . "At peak form," for instance . . . Or "was never better."

★ ★ ★

SHEILA IN TRUTH NEVER has been better . . . Her repertory is the one she has been using on such remote fronts as Trinidad, Cairo, Naples, London and Iceland . . . She does a classic word-story of a London street-walker meeting a Yankee soldier in an air raid shelter—a harmless and rather tragic meeting which is interrupted by a London bobby . . . She has a new impersonation of the First Lady, and a takeoff of Garbo . . . She does a familiar recitative of a female cocktail table-hopper who is the worse for wear (and drink) . . . Sheila is better than ever, and that should mean capacity, tax or no tax, at the Renaissance Room of the Touraine.

★ ★ ★

THE SUAVE AND HANDSOME MR. RICHMAN similarly is in perfect form . . . He wears a wholesome-looking tan which must make his customers, victims of this unseasonable Boston April, wish they had money or talent . . . But the new Richman tan was not acquired this year in Florida (where Harry only passed a month) . . . He comes to Boston fresh from 16 weeks at the Florentine Gardens (capacity 1600) in Los Angeles . . . Mr. Richman's verve and aplomb and his tricky, enchanting voice are soothing the Latin Quarter's patrons into forgetfulness of the 30 per cent impost.

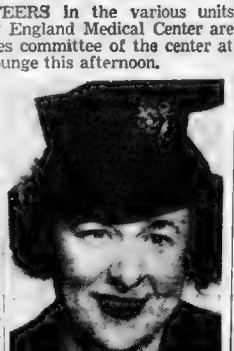
IN KEEPING with increased interest in the use of radio by community groups the Junior League of Boston has invited Miss Gloria Chandler, radio consultant for the Association of Junior Leagues of America, to Boston for special meetings Thursday.

The war has brought about a realization of the effectiveness of radio as a social force and Junior Leagues in many cities are cooperating with other community groups in promotion of special programs. An example of this joint planning in which leagues have participated is a series called "Reading Is Fun"—dramatizations of children's books. Series dealing with regional and city backgrounds are being arranged. Miss Chandler, a pioneer in children's theater work, has served as radio consultant for 11 years.



MISS GLORIA CHANDLER—Radio consultant guest of Junior League.

At a special board meeting of the Junior League in her honor Thursday morning those attending will be Dorothy Rackemann, Patricia Spencer, Mary Elizabeth Clarke, Jane Megrew, Mrs. Lothrop Dana, Mrs. Kenneth Perkins, Mrs. George A. Files Combed In Paper Drive

Rather than wait for the official start, on May 1, of the special office "clean-up" waste paper drive, office managers in scores of downtown Boston concerns today directed workers in going through files and eliminating paper no longer needed.

Because the longest part of the clean-out task is the separating of the worthless letters, pamphlets and catalogs from these which should be preserved, managers of many offices are setting aside this week for gathering useless paper and making it ready for collection when the campaign begins.

Aiding the business men are folders, now being circulated by the Advertising Club of Boston containing instructions how to prepare paper for collection.

The Advertising Club is sponsoring the special campaign, with the support of the Boston salvage committee and the War Production Board.

Mayor Tobin, in a proclamation sent to more than 5000 Boston executives, urged active and wholehearted co-operation in the drive, reminding the business men that high-grade office paper is vitally needed for the manufacture of blood plasma, food and ammunition containers.

George C. Wiswell, chairman of the Advertising Club's paper salvage committee, announced that field representatives of the War Production Board are visiting industrial offices to help in forming salvage committees among employes.

New Sub Chaser Has Negro Crew

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP)—The second naval vessel to be manned by a predominantly Negro crew, the sub chaser PC 1264, was commissioned today by Comdr. H. F. Sasse, USN (ret.), assistant to the captain of the New York Navy Yard.

The 173-foot vessel, of a type largely used for escort duty, carries 53 Negroes in her ship's company. It is commanded by Lieut. Eric Purdon, USNR, of Garrison, N. Y.

The crew was trained at the Miami, Fla., submarine chaser school.

Kidneys Must Clean Out Acids

Excess acids, poisons and wastes in your blood are removed chiefly by your kidneys. Getting up Nights, Burning Passages, Backache, Swollen Ankles, Nervousness, Rheumatic Pains, Dizziness, Circles Under Eyes, and feeling worn out, often are caused by non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles. Usually in such cases, the very first dose of Cystex goes right to work helping the Kidneys flush out excess acids and wastes. 3-Purpose Cream Keeps Skin Healthy

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

INTELLIGENT REASONING leads the girl of today to give her complexion the careful attention it needs. To be beautiful . . . she must, first of all, have a healthy skin which maintains its healthy condition through a cream that is nourishing to the skin . . . making it firm, velvety, smooth and radiant.

We all know that just a good cold cream softens the skin to some extent. But a three-purpose cream . . . scientifically devised and created 18 years ago by a nationally known dermatologist and institute professor for this famous cosmetic house of traditional purity and quality . . . is very different . . . for it has one known substance with the ability to penetrate the skin.

This active life element helps to keep the skin and its underlayers of tissues, muscles and capillaries in a radiant, healthy state . . . because it has nourishing qualities of purity and scientific blending.

The formula for this outstanding cosmetic . . . which for the next week you can get at a sale price . . . was worked out at a leading institution of learning and produced a cream that would never deteriorate nor become rancid. Eighteen years ago, this tried and tested cream was the only cream permitted to enter the Hall of Science at the Chicago World's Fair . . . and because of its purity and scientific treatment for dry skin . . . although it was equally as good for all types of skin . . . it was given an award of distinction.

LET'S STOCK UP

Let it be your cleansing cream . . . your night nourishing cream . . . your skin-renovating cream . . . for it contains properties that will be greatly beneficial to the beauty of your complexion.

You'll especially want this preparation . . . for it is on sale . . . and a half-pound jar which usually sells for $1.85 is now only priced at one dollar. You can stock up on this cream . . . since it was rewarded for its skin-improving ingredients that will never deteriorate nor go rancid . . . no matter how long it remains on your shelf.

For the name of this outstanding three-purpose cream on sale for only one dollar, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A CREAM THAT CAN boast of having won a Hall of Science award for purity and scientific treatment goodness is a three-purpose cream traditional for nourishment qualities and excellence for dry and under-nourished skins. This cream will help keep your skin in a radiant, healthy state and as beautiful as that of RKO Star Virginia Bruce.

Fashion

SPRING FLOWERS bloom on a beautifully simple black dress . . . and under a large cartwheel of black summer felt. They are cut-outs from a printed material . . . appliqued at the waistline and down the side-drape of the skirt. Note the very new, very short dolman sleeves . . . dramatically feminine. M-G-M Starlet Donna Reed models the lovely costume.—R. M.

Cutaway Jackets Popular

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THE cutaway jacket has been making quite a stir in those Alpine circles known as "High Style." Some of the most expensive clothes and the highest in advance style have cutaway jackets. There are suits with this kind of jacket, and there are jacket ensembles.

I have selected one to show you what one of our finest custom houses does with the cutaway. This model is from Chez Ninon, designed by Madame Lyne, who used to design in big houses in Paris. It is made of navy blue and white printed crepe, and the jacket is short, and cutaway from the neckline, with a row of buttons down the front.

The dress has a bolero waist, attached to the wide navy blue shantung girdle in a V at the front.

Preserve Eggs Now

By MARTHA LEE

EGGS AND MORE EGGS! We think we've said all that can be said about eggs—then suddenly we get some new ideas for making use of the unusually plentiful supply on hand at the present time. Or we have requests from readers for more egg recipes.

Top on the list is the one for "putting down eggs." The Massachusetts State College has prepared the following instructions for home use:

PRESERVING EGGS IN WATER GLASS

Fresh eggs properly preserved may be kept for 6 to 9 months in good condition and used with good results. Those laid during February, March, April, May and early June keep better than eggs laid later in the season.

The eggs must be fresh, perfectly dry, and preferably infertile. Soiled eggs may be cleaned with a damp cloth. They should have sound strong shells and under no circumstances should soiled, cracked, or even slightly checked eggs be used for preserving. For best results, cool the eggs as soon as they are taken from the nest and keep them cool until they are packed.

For 15 dozen eggs, use ¾ quart water glass (sodium silicate) to 9 quarts of water that has been boiled and cooled. Measure the water into a five-gallon crock or jar or wooden pail which has been thoroughly cleaned, scalded and allowed to dry. Add the ¾ quart of water glass and stir thoroughly.

Then place the eggs in the container in the water glass solution. If there are not enough eggs on hand when the solution is first made, more eggs may be added from time to time. Be very careful to have at least two inches of the solution covering the eggs at all times.

Keep the container with the preserved eggs in a cool, dry place, well covered to prevent evaporation. It should be kept in a place where it will not need to be moved after the eggs are put in the water glass.

When eggs preserved in water glass are to be cooked in water, a small hole should be made in the shell with a pin at the large end before placing them in the water. This will allow the air in the egg to escape without cracking the shell when the egg is heated.

CHOCOLATE LAYER CAKE

We'd like to correct the recipe for Chocolate Layer Cake which appeared in last Thursday's column. The error in the method has been rectified in the following:

3½ cups sifted flour 1 tsp. soda
1½ tsp. baking powder 1 tsp. salt
2 cups sugar 1 cup lard
2-3 cup cocoa 1 cup hot water
1 cup sour milk 2 eggs
1½ tsp. vanilla

Line two 9-inch layer pans with waxed paper. Sift flour with soda, baking powder and salt. Cream lard, add 1½ cups of sugar and cream well. Dissolve cocoa in hot water. Cool slightly and add to creamed mixture. Separate eggs, add beaten yolks to milk, add dry ingredients alternately with milk mixture to creamed lard and sugar. Beat egg whites until stiff. Add remaining ½ cup sugar to the egg whites and beat until sugar is dissolved. Fold egg whites into cake mixture. Add flavoring. Pour batter into pans and bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 45 minutes.

BREAD PUDDING

2 eggs, beaten ½ tsp. salt
1-3 cup sugar ½ cup raisins
1 tsp. vanilla or ½ tsp. cinnamon
2 cups scalded milk
2 bread slices cut into ½-inch dice

Combine eggs, sugar, salt and flavoring. Add raisins. Add scalded milk. Mix well. Add bread. Pour into greased 1½-quart casserole, set in pan of hot water. Bake in a 350 deg. F. oven until a knife inserted in center comes out clean, about 50 minutes. Serve plain with cream or with lemon sauce. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Monday —Sunday afternoon proved to be quite busy. At one o'clock, over a hundred Capitol page boys came to lunch. After lunch we saw some movies of one of our carriers, and then they stayed on for another movie and a visit through the White House rooms.

I went out a little before four, to receive with Mrs. Robert Patterson at a tea which the "Jangos" gave in her house for the WAC officers in Washington. You might like to know about the Jangos. Those letters stand for Junior Army-Navy Guild Organization. These are the wives and daughters of junior officers and they have banded themselves together to do a great variety of war work, helping the hospitals here and filling in wherever they see a chance for being useful. They are young women with families, and therefore they are not able to do full time jobs. But they keep usefully busy.

★ ★ ★

THE TEA YESTERDAY was a great success, and they did all the work of looking after the guests and seeing that they were fed and made to feel at home.

Afterwards, I stopped to see an exhibition of paintings by Miss Alice Barney at the Arts Club, and then went to the Foundry Methodist Church and met with a group of their young people.

We had a rather late supper, after which we were shown the Army movie, "The Negro Soldier In the War." It is a very moving record of achievement, and I hope the Negro soldiers will feel that it is a recognition of their outstanding service.

★ ★ ★

AT NOON TODAY, I went to the Woman's National Democratic Club to speak on the Caribbean trip.

I am so glad to be able to agree with Mr. Pegler on something he wrote in his column which appeared here on March 24. I heartily agree with him that in the case of a simple person like myself, there is no reason whatsoever why there should be any accompanying cars on any trips which I take within any city or in any part of our country or abroad.

Baby on Job

CLEVELAND, April 25 (AP)—There is no baby-care problem for Mrs. Lucille Tadych, 39, as she goes about her job as supervisor for an electric company here.

When Mrs. Tadych's son, Harry, was born she feared she'd have to quit her job but her employer proposed she just bring the baby along with her when she came to work. A nursery, equipped with play pen, was partitioned off on the shop floor.

JVA Joins in Safety Study

Boys and girls of the Junior Victory Army attached to Massachusetts 4-H Clubs are learning to lock the barn before the horse is stolen, according to Harley A. Leland, assistant state leader, through a series of demonstrations on how to prevent accidents by making simple farm and home repairs.

With shortages in manpower and medical attention, agricultural workers cannot afford to be laid up by mishaps, he explains.

A piece of farm machinery out of repair may easily cause an accident. Livestock may be gentle one day but on the next someone may be injured because of carelessness. Broken steps and unlighted stairs are other hazards.

In the home it is important to know how to properly attach electric cords to plugs, sockets and lamps. Replacing of blown fuses, splicing of lamp cords and "Do's" and "Dont's" regarding electrical appliances, have all been taken up in the 4-H demonstrations.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and address to Junior Victory Army headquarters, P. O Box 223, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin well-wrapped in your letter.

Read the next JVA story in Wednesday's Daily Record.

'Career Angel' Opens May 12

"Career Angel," new play by Gerard M. Murray with Glenn Anders and Whitford Kane, will have its premiere at the Wilbur on Friday evening, May 12, remaining for a two-week run prior to its Broadway engagement.

The story concerns an orphanage in Georgia, where the headmaster's benevolence has exceeded his resources until the arrival on earth of his guardian angel, who takes over and manages his affairs. This is accomplished to the consternation of his associates who can't see the angel and think their headmaster has gone daffy.

Don Appell staged the play which has a setting by Carl Kent.

'In Our Time' Held Over 2d Week at Para-Fenway

"In Our Time," Warners' Ida Lupino-Paul Henreid costarrer with the pre-invasion Poland locale, is doing sturdy business at the Paramount and Fenway Theaters where it will hold over a second week.

Brilliant performances by the stars are paralleled by excellent characterizations by a distinguished supporting cast including Michael Chekhov, Nazimova, Victor Francen, Nancy Coleman and Mary Boland.

Chekhov is a standout as the philosopher-poet uncle of the young Polish nobleman (Henreid), as are Nazimova, as the latter's tradition-bound mother, and Francen, as the head of the family and a Polish appeaser of Nazi pressure.

"Tornado," with Chester Morris and Nancy Kelly, is the co-feature.

'Lovers and Friends' . . . Better'n No Love at All

By PEGGY DOYLE

Katharine Cornell, last seen in Boston in an all too brief role in "The Three Sisters," is here again playing her most extensive assignment in a play that requires all the warmth and range she expends with such largesse in "Lovers and Friends."

The Dodie Smith comedy, which has flourished on Broadway since November, arrived in the rain at the Plymouth last night, the customary glitter of a Cornell opening somewhat dimmed and the attendance diminished by the unrelenting downpour. But there was no rationing of appreciative applause evoked by Miss Cornell's glowing performance.

"Lovers and Friends" may lack distinction and originality of concept but the star's skilled bridging of a quarter-century, encompassing her girlhood during World War I and her present maturity, and the authority and charm she brings to the role vitalize the play in spite of its sometimes limping script.

* * *

Ther is glamour and reality in her playing and a vast wonderment on your part that husband Henry Daniell should be even briefly warmed by the tissue-paper-thin charms of the smug, arrogant young secretary played by Anne Burr.

Miss Burr is convincing as the girl who "romanticizes" herself into an interesting background and into the husband's affections the while she has persuaded him of her shining honesty and courage.

Daniell projects the husband's dilemma with unerring rightness. He might so well have been merely negative but with the genuine skill to which he has accustomed us he clarifies a rather hazy character and suggests the inner turmoil experienced by the soldier-barrister.

Carol Goodner's leavening humor and forthrightness, as the wife's friend and confidante, give a tang to the production and is in nice contrast to the solid character limned by Arthur Margetson, in the role of second man in the wife's life. Mabel Taylor's maid, Agnes, is played with quiet competence.

* * *

Motley's drawing-room in Regent's Park, London, which graciously backgrounds this 1918-to-1942, off-again-on-again romantic idyll, as well as the costumes are ample if mute evidence of an era that is as historically significant as "Lovers and Friends" is not.

Another important contribution to the production's excellence is Guthrie McClintic's expert direction, which has contrived to tighten a sometimes straying script into a cohesive whole.

GETTING DOWN to points, Wallace Beery, a smalltown shopkeeper in his newest picture, "Rationing," discovers that he's getting nowhere fast with the "reds" and the "blues." You will be seeing him and the film's sharp-tongued ration board head, Marjorie Main, on Loew's twin screens, beginning Thursday.

Sailors Get Jobs As Longshoremen

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25 (AP)—The Navy said it had granted permission to sailors on leave or liberty to take part-time jobs as longshoremen.

Rear Admiral C. H. Wright said an emergency existed on San Francisco waterfronts, and to help meet this crisis, enlisted Navy men wishing to take longshore jobs could do so.

Gansett Horsemen Get $1,300 Minimum Purse

By JACK CONWAY

THE MILLION dollar handles at Narragansett Park caused the horsemen to ask for $1500 minimum purses . . . Judge James E. Dooley and his associates have been generous in the amount of purse money that has been offered . . . If they were certain that the million dollar handles would continue, they would probably readily agree to minimum purses of $1500 . . . With the European invasion expected to start soon, race track managements have become conservative . . . Once the invasion is on drastic things can happen to racing and to other sports. The track has granted $1300 minimum purses with $100 trainers awards in each race . . . a total of $1400.

The stock market has a bad case of invasion jitters . . . This represents the consensus of opinion of the money people of the world . . . Race tracks and other major sports enterprises are usually guided by the actions of big business . . . It is unlikely that the Narragansett Park management will feel it should go above $1300 in purses.

Judge Dooley

Suffolk Downs, while increasing the value of stakes and setting $1200 as a minimum for the run of the mill type of races, refused to grant Racing Commissioner Bayard Tuckerman's request that all purses be increased by 10 per cent . . . Charles F. Adams, director of racing, points out that many horses in $1200 races are not worth that amount of money . . . Inflation hit horse flesh last winter with the result that many horses are running in claiming races well beyond their normal value . . . If the war should end suddenly, the value of race horses as well as the total of mutuel handles will drop sharply . . . Government war orders more than anything else are responsible for the racing boom.

During the last war, Dave Wilson tells me, Pimlico had its million dollar handles . . . When peace was restored the handles dropped so low that they were kept a secret.

I believe that in the post-war period more people will attend racing than ever, but they will not wager as much money . . . The New England tracks will offset the loss of mutuel revenue by increasing the admission price to the grandstand from 50 cents to $1 . . . They will contend that anyone who cannot afford to pay $1 to see an expensive racing card should stay at home . . . Admission charges for New England race tracks are lower than in any part of the country . . . It is an aftermath of the free pass period during which time few people paid other than the tax and service charges to get inside of a race track.

★ ★ ★

Mel Ott for Army

MEL OTT, Giants' manager, is Army bound at the age of 35 . . . It is unlikely that Ott will be called for service before the latter part of the summer . . . Under the new selective service plan inductees are being called for war service according to their ages . . . There are few available persons in the groups under 26 years of age . . . The next age bracket will be that from 26 to 29.

Changing war conditions may bring forth new rulings which will enable Ott to finish out the season with the Giants . . . Joe Cronin of the Red Sox and Lou Boudreau of the Indians are in 1-A of the draft and waiting for the time of their draft examinations.

Joe Cronin gave up a job in a Wakefield war plant to give 100 per cent of his time to baseball . . . Like Jim Tabor, Bobby Doerr and other baseball people, Cronin did not wish to ask for draft deferment by remaining in a war plant.

One of the young men of the sports department calls my attention to the fact that not a single newspaperman in this office entered defense work . . . They remained on the job until called by the armed services . . . And how well these men have done in the armed services . . . Sergt. Arthur Sullivan of the sports department with 51 bombing missions to his credit and Lieut. Tommy Berube of the sports department with more than 25 fighter missions on his score card, and the other youngsters of the sporting department who are in service doing their utmost to gain victory.

I think I would not have had the same respect for these boys if they had given up their newspaper posts for defense jobs where they would have been given draft deferment.

★ ★ ★

Baseball Grips Fans

THE FINE reception the Red Sox received when they played the Yanks convinced me the public is hot for baseball . . . This was also evident on Sunday when more than 15,000 persons witnessed the Braves split a double-header with the Phillies . . . The weather was chilly, while the Phillies have never been much of a Boston attraction . . . The Braves had also lost three games in a row to the Giants . . . It was an enthusiastic crowd which didn't leave the park until the final man was out in the second game . . . Incidentally Jim Tobin pitched quite a ball game.

B's Host to 'Bums' For 3-Game Series

By BILL GRIMES

If Groundskeeper Roy Leathers and his "bull" ganag are able to bail out the rain water, which has fallen since Sunday night, the Braves and the Dodgers will open a three-game series with a single contest this afternoon at the Allston Wigwam.

Although they haven't been balls of fire, the Dodgers have fared a trifle better than the Colemen up to date. They took two out of three from the Blue Jays in Philadelphia but then they dropped two straight to the Giants, who were "high" after making a clean sweep of their series with the Braves in the Polo Grounds.

Charlie "Red" Barrett will make his third appearance of the season on the hilltop this afternoon. In his 194 debut, "Red" had his ears pinned back by the Ottmen. He was belted from pillar to post, giving up 11 hits in 3 2-3 innings including home runs by Mel Ott and Ernie Lombardi who, between them, drove in five runs in the opening round.

BARRETT ON MOUND

Our Mr. Barrett made his second appearance on the mound Saturday, taking over for Al Javery, with the bases loaded and no one out in the seventh inning. With the stage set for him to grab the head lines, "Red" was all business. He didn't try to play around with the Phillies by serving up his assortment of "dead fish." He really bore down, retiring the Blue Jays without allowing a run to cross the plate. He forced Andy Seminick to foul out to Clyde Kluttz, stopped Steve Cieslak's hard smash with his shin, recovered the ball in time to force Jimmy Wasdell at the plate and then fanned Ray Hamrick.

When he keeps his mind on his work, "Red" Barrett is as tough as any pitcher in the league to hit. And, if he's in a serious mood this afternoon, he'll give the "Bums" plenty of trouble, for he beat them three times without a setback last season.

NEW INFIELD

Curt Davis will get the nod from Manager Leo Durocher to toss them up for the Dodgers. Davis, who wil lbe 38 years old in September has been around long enough to know what it's all about. He's always been tough for the Braves to hit and two of his 10 wins of a year ago were over Boston.

Aukie Vaughan, Billy Herman and Al Glossop are no longer in the Dodgers' infield. In their stead are Gilly English, who has been around as long, if not longer, than Curt Davis, Luis Olmo, the Puerto Rican, who was brought up from Montreal last year, and Gene Mauch, who has the call over Freddie Ankenman, for the short stop berth. Howie Schultz, the six-foot-six giant from St. Paul is at first base.

In "Dixie" Walker, Augie Galan, and "Frenchy Bordogaray, the Dodgers have a veteran outfield, backed up by three other old-timers, the Waner brothers and Johnny Cooney.

Manager Bob Coleman will use his right hand hitting club against Curt Davis but if "Lippy" Leo should shift to Fritzie Ostermueller, Chet Ross and Chet Clemens will take over for "Butch" Nieman and "Chuck" Workman.

The Braves and Dodgers will play single games tomorrow and Thursday and then the Colemen will start a short Eastern trip to Philly and Brooklyn.

Kopf to Coach Hub Pros

Herb Kopf, former football coach at Manhattan College, was named last night as head coach of the Boston Yankees of the National pro league, for the duration, by Owner Ted Collins.

Lieut.-Comdr. James H. Crowley, former Fordham University mentor, now serving in the South Pacific area with the Navy, will take over the coaching duties of the Yanks after the war.

Kopf, 42, and a resident of New York, started his coaching career as assistant to Lou Little at Georgetown in 1925 and went to Columbia as assistant to Little in 1930.

In 1937 Kopf succeeded John F. (Chick) Meehan as head coach at Manhattan College. Later he was appointed director of athletics. He served in that capacity at Manhattan until the sport was dropped because of the war.

Kopf is an expert on the "QT" formation, an offensive arrangement which combines most of the advantages of the "T" with those of a single wingback formation.

Kopf is married and has two children, Geraldine, 14, and Herbert, Jr., 8. He is chairman of the membership committee and trustee of the American Football Coaches Ass'n.

Off the field Kopf is known to be willing to talk football with anybody at anytime. He is a good sport and an interesting conversationalist.

Somerville Nine Gets Jolt As Stars Join Armed Forces

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Somerville High School's hopes of repeating its success in the Greater Boston baseball league suffered a bad jolt last month when two of its veterans, Jim Hickey and Bob Lyons, joined the armed forces. But last week, Coach Barney Curtin felt the strain of these twin blows considerably eased by the showing of his Red and Blue diamond forces in a pair of pleasant surprises.

Two practice games against Cambridge Latin and Boston College High found the Curtin crew playing fine baseball—and neither the Cantabs nor the Eaglets can be counted out of the Eastern State championships on their showings to date.

PLAY REVERE HIGH

However, the true strength of the Somerville nine will be revealed tomorrow in the opening of the Greater Boston loop against Revere at the Paul Revere Stadium at 3:15. This clash will share opening day honors with the other GBI contests pitting Chelsea against Lowell and Medford against Malden. Everett will not get underway until Friday.

In attempting to live up to its first place showing of last year, Somerville will be depending on the versatility of its remaining veteran strength to pave the way. Lyons, now in the Navy, would have been the regular third baseman while Hickey, also a sailor, would have taken care of the southpaw side of the mound staff in a very capable manner. With these two, there'll have to be some shifts in the line-up.

The burden of the pitching will fall on Charles Osgood. This veteran twirler won seven games for Somerville last season and his form thus far this season indicates that he'll be good for at least that number again. On top of that, Osgood will be batting clean-up and moving into left field when not on the mound.

STRONG AT PLATE

In the event that southpaw Larry Repetto, Nick Marcone, Jackie Colline or Frank Daley takes over the twirling, Osgood will move to left, sending Capt. Joe Fiore, another sweet swinger, to right and possibly bench George Hughes. But if Bill Slager, at first base, fails to hit league pitching, Hughes will take over the initial sack.

These shifts will be expected to keep plenty of dynamite at the plate to knock in a few runs.

The remainder of the teams appears fairly well settled. Charlie Johnson, second base, will be lead-off man while Charlie Shea, a top-notch catcher, will be batting in the No. 3 spot. Bob Pugatch, of the basketball squad, will be a fixture in centerfield while Ed Leahy, a transfer from B. C. High, has taken over the shortstop berth.

Chick Escott will get the call at third base for this opening game until such time as Dick Allen's sore arm recovers sufficiently to permit him to fight Escott for the right to the hot corner. Allen played some at third last season.

Leominster High School has carded 10 games for the baseball team with former state champion Templeton back on the slate . . . as Fitchburg has given up the sport for the season, St. Bernard's will be the objective game . . . the schedule lists Leominster at Hudson, May 6; Clinton, 10; at Gardner, 15; Hudson, 19; St. Bernard's, 22; at Clinton, 24; Gardner, 26; at Templeton, 29; Templeton, June 2; at St. Bernard's, 6.

Sox, Senators Tangle Today

WASHINGTON, April 25—The promise of good weather, at least a better brand of weather brought cheer to the Red Hose from Boston and the local Senators. It is now hoped that the three-game series between these clubs can get underway this P. M.

Joe Cronin has announced that Yank Terry will toe the mound for the Red Sox and Knuckleballer Johnny Niggeling has drawn the assignment for the locals.

Weather Halts B. C. Grid Work

Rain halted the outdoor activity of Boston College football team, but the afternoon was devoted to an explanation of the basic "T" formations to some of the newcomers to the squad.

The roster of the squad was increased by the turnout of several discharged veterans who have returned to the Heights. The most promising of this group is Louis Sammartino a stocky lad who tips the scale at 180. "Sammy" as he is called by the squad, hopes to fill in the spot vacated by Wally Fitzgerald at left guard. Together with his weight and compact frame he should allay any fears of Coach Sarno that the left center of the line will be weak next fall. The only difficulty at the moment is the time which it will take Sammartino to get replacement for his contact lens eyeglasses. Without these he is severely handicapped.

Practice for the Eagles will be held today at 3 p. m. rain or shine.

Phils Sign Rookie

PHILADELPHIA, April 25 (AP)—The Phillies announced the signing of a 210-pound pitcher who has never before played in organized baseball. He is 23-year old, six feet two Charley Ripple of Whiteville, N. C., an Army rejectee who attended Wake Forest for two years and pitched on semi-pro teams for three seasons in the Carolinas.

Joe Medwick Taps Fountain of Youth

The New York Giants, who are running neck and neck with the St. Louis Cardinals in the best start a New York National League team has made in 14 years, owe a good portion of their five-game winning streak to a castoff from Brooklyn . . . Joseph Michael Medwick.

In the very phase of his career in which he was supposed to be washed up and headed for the major league scrap pile, Medwick has been sparking the Giants to a series of good performances behind deserving pitchers.

The last two Giant triumphs were earned at the expense of the Brooklyn Dodgers, from which team Medwick was swept out in a house-cleaning instituted last year by President Branch Rickey.

Medwick is playing with a peppery zeal which he has perhaps never before displayed, even when he was hiting in the .350's for the Cards almost a decade ago. The answer, we believe, lies in Medwick's attitude toward Rickey.

SORE AT RICKEY

From the time Medwick broke into the major league with the cards in 1932 until he was transferred from Brooklyn to New York on the waiver price of $7500 in 1943, Rickey had been Medwick's boss through most of that span.

From the time Rickey became the Brooklyn prexy, he attempted to deal Medwick out of the Brooklyn pack. Medwick knew this, and became still more dissatisfied with his lot than he was in the days he was getting minor league pay from Rickey for major league work.

If Joe is not happy to be working for Horace Stoneham, he is putting on a magnificent act. For the first time in his playing career, Joe seems satisfied with conditions under which he is employed as ball-pelter and gardener.

ON HITTING SPREE

Last Thursday, against the Braves, Joe whacked out a homer, double and two singles. The next day, against his old pals, Medwick drove in two Giant runs as the New Yorkers edged out Brooklyn, 3 to 2. Saturday, as the Giants beat the Dodgers again for the fifth straight victory, Joe belted two doubles and single.

Medwick again can make himself the most valuable hitter in the National League. The Cartaret, N. J., muscle man was "never the same" after being beaned by Cards Pitcher Bob Bowman in his first week with Brooklyn in 1940, and last year slumped to a .278 batting average, the first time in his major league career he had failed to hit .300 or over.

It would be wise to keep an eye on the new, revitalized Medwick—as he goes, so go the 1944 Giants.

Inverness Bidding For Intercollegiate

EVANSTON, Ill., April 25 (AP)—There is a strong prospect that the National Intercollegiate golf tournament will be held this year, says Ted Payseur of the NCAA golf committee and Northwestern University coach.

Committee members, he said, have been polled on a likely site and on the pattern of the tourney, and the leading bidder is the Inverness Club of Toledo, home base of Byron Nelson.

Sebago Lake Awaits Anglers

SEBAGO, Me., April 25 (AP)—Declared by game wardens to be officially free of ice, Sebago Lake, Maine's second largest and noted for its large salmon and trout, is among more than a score of lakes and ponds in southern and eastern sectors legally opened to spring fishing.

Fish and game officials said that with all lakes south of Calais, Washington County, ice-free, it was expected that Eastern Grand Lake, one of the leading salmon lakes, would be clear by May 1.

By this week-end, they added, Central Maine lakes should begin to break up under the influence of spring rains and warmer weather.

HEARST RIFLE SHOOT WINNERS—The Glastonbury Rifle Club of Glastonbury, Ct., won the William Randolph Hearst Citizen Marksmanship competition in New York and it was the first time that the trophy has been won by the same club twice in succession. Ott to Name His Successor

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP)—Speculation over Mel Ott's successor as manager of the New York Giants centered on the inner circle of Horace Stoneham's organization today as the popular 35-year-old pilot rejoined his unbeaten club.

Ott passed his physical yesterday at Camden, N. J., where he had reported as a member of the Lakewood, N. J. contingent, but his call to Army duty will come from his own draft board in Louisiana anytime after May 15, but possibly not until July 24.

Clarence "Bubber" Jonnard, one of Ott's coaches and formerly a manager and scout in the Giants' farm system, headed a list of possible successors that included Manager Gabby Hartnett of the Jersey City farm, Coach Dolf Luque, Infielder Billy Jurges and Farm Supervisor Carl Hubbell.

During the spring training period when Ott's possible loss first was discussed, Owner Stoneham declared that a temporary successor would come from within his organization and Ott would have full say as to who it might be. It is fully understood that the job is Ott's when he is again available.

While the Giants heard the news about Master Melvin, Manager Joe McCarthy of the Yankees, in seclusion at his Amherst, N. Y., farm recovering from an attack of influenza, heard that Spud Chandler had hopped a train to St. Petersburg, Fla., after receiving an induction call for Friday. Chandler had been accepted for the Army in limited service, but was not immediately called.

Rain Halts All Baseball Tilts

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP)—General storms combined with the schedule makers to wipe out yesterday's entire baseball program in the major leagues, International and American Ass'n.

Cincinnati at Pittsburgh, the National's only scheduled contest, was postponed and the entire American League enjoyed an open date.

All teams were scheduled in the International and American Ass'n but all were washed down the drain by the rain.

O'Dea of Indians 1-A

CLEVELAND, April 25 (AP)—Paul O'Dea, Cleveland Indians outfielder, has been classified 1-A by his selective service board. O'Dea, 23 and unmarried, had been classified 4-F because of an eye injury suffered in 1940 at the Tribe's spring training camp. He underwent an eye operation last fall.

Paratroopers Experiment With St. Bernard Dogs

MUROC ARMY AIR BASE, Cal., April 25 (AP)—Major is a St. Bernard dog attached to this base, but he's not the snow-plodding type with a bottle of rum tied around his neck. As a parapooch, he's introducing a new and exciting role for St. Bernards.

The 150-pound canine is the willing subject of Army experiments to determine if such dogs, with their proverbial ability in life saving, can be dropped from planes to aid service personnel stranded on icy wastes.

Col. Ralph A. Snavely, commanding officer, says Major has made seven high altitude jumps with a regular-size parachute. The dog, he reports, doesn't seem to mind wearing a specially fitted oxygen mask.

Col. Snavely said Major, purchased by the Army from a Dayton, O., dog pound for $3, was given his first parachute training by Lieut.-Col. W. R. Lovelace, chief of the aero-medical laboratory at Wright Field.

Passing in single file on either side of the catafalque on which rests the body of William Cardinal O'Connell in the Cathedral of the Holy Cross, persons from all walks of life pay their last respects to the departed prelate. The public will be admitted to the edifice to view the body daily from 11 a. m. to 10 p. m. until Friday.

At Church

These are some of the thousands of people who gathered outside the Cathedral of the Holy Cross awaiting admittance to pay tribute to New England's first and only cardinal. Today at the cathedral the first of three solemn high masses will be sung.
